

Prevent – Protecting students from the risk of ‘Radicalisation’

At Penryn College we are committed to promoting student welfare and safety. As part of this, we believe it is important to protect students from the risk of radicalisation. It is essential that our staff are able to identify students who may be vulnerable to radicalisation, and know what to do when they are identified.

However, this does not mean that we believe that our students shouldn't debate issues such as 'extremism'; on the contrary, we feel it is important that students are able to debate such controversial topics in the safety of the classroom and develop the knowledge and skills to be able to challenge extremist arguments. In conjunction with this, we also believe that the promotion of British Values, enable our students to build resilience to radicalisation.

All our Safeguarding staff and those who deliver our PSHEE curriculum have been trained in the Channel Process.

For further information see the Department for Education's guidance: The Prevent duty Departmental advice for schools and childcare providers June 2015