PENRYN COLLEGE

ANTI-BULLYING POLICY

Every Individual has a right to a secure school environment where they feel safe and happy and can learn effectively. It is the responsibility of every member of the school to help create and maintain this environment.

This policy was created by the students and staff of Penryn College. It has been informed by the opinions and comments that have arisen from student voice surveys and interviews, the views and experience of 'The Support Team', and feedback from parents, staff and Governors.

Designated Safeguarding Lead: J. Harvey
Designated Teacher for Children in Care: Kirstie Oliver
Governor with Responsibility for Anti-Bullying: Mark Parsons

Policy updated: January 2019
Approved by: Student and Curriculum Committee
To be reviewed: December 2020
Published: Virtual School and Website

The principles that underpin our Policy:

- ✓ We expect everyone to act with courtesy, consideration and tolerance to others at all times.
- ✓ We will not accept words or actions which hurt, threaten or intimidate others
- ✓ We encourage pupils to support one another by reporting all cases of bullying.
- ✓ We will LISTEN and ACT when pupils TELL.

Our Aims:

- ✓ To establish an ethos that recognises that good relationships deter bullying
- ✓ To cultivate in all students an acceptance of responsibility for their behaviour and its consequences by developing self-discipline, self-awareness and self-esteem.
- ✓ To recognise all forms of bullying, including peer on peer abuse, cyberbullying and bullying people because of their ethnicity, gender, sexuality, religious beliefs or sexuality.
- ✓ To prevent bullying from happening
- ✓ To deal promptly and appropriately with bullying when it occurs.

How we define Bullying:

What is bullying?

Bullying is ANY sustained behaviour that makes other people feel, uncomfortable, threatened, hurt, insulted, or isolated.

When referring to bullying we consider the following types:

- ❖ Bullying takes place over a period of time – a one-off incident is not bullying
- ❖ Physical: hitting, kicking, spitting shoving, taking or hiding any personal belongings
- ❖ Verbal: name calling, teasing, making insults, and writing hurtful messages
- ❖ Emotional: being unfriendly, deliberately ignoring, spreading rumours, “Dirty looks”
- ❖ Digital/Cyber: offensive, threatening messages sent via text messages, email, MSN etc.
- ❖ Peer on Peer abuse

Bullying consists of three features:

1. It is deliberate and hurtful
2. It is repeated over a period of time
3. It is difficult for the victim to defend themselves

The National Context

The Equality Act 2010:

The Equality Act 2010 replaces previous anti-discrimination laws with a single Act. A key provision is a new public sector Equality Duty, which came into force on 5 April 2011. It requires schools to have due regard to the need to:

- eliminate unlawful discrimination
- harassment
- victimisation
- any other conduct prohibited by the Act
- advance equality of opportunity between people ▪ foster good relations between people.

Schools are now required to comply with the new Equality Duty.

The Act also makes it unlawful for the responsible body of a school to discriminate against, harass or victimise a pupil or potential pupil in relation to admissions, the way it provides education for pupils, provision of pupil access to any benefit, facility or service, or by excluding a pupil or subjecting them to any other detriment. In England and Wales the Act applies to all maintained, independent schools, including Academies.

Safeguarding children and young people:

Under the Children Act 1989 a bullying incident should be addressed as a child protection concern when there is 'reasonable cause to suspect that a child is suffering, or is likely to suffer, significant harm'. Where this is the case, the school should report their concerns to their local authority children's social care. Even where safeguarding is not considered to be an issue, schools may need to draw on a range of external services to support the pupil who is experiencing bullying, or to tackle any underlying issue which has contributed to a child doing the bullying.

The Law:

Although bullying in itself is not a specific criminal offence in the UK, it is important to bear in mind that some types of harassment or threatening behaviour, or communications, could be a criminal offence. This is defined under the Protection from Harassment Act 1997, the Malicious Communications Act 1988, the Communications Act 2003, and the Public Order Act 1986.

Cyber-Bullying:

Bullying is no longer limited to the playground and can take away the sense of safety that a child feels while at home. Stopbullying.gov defines cyber-bullying as, "...Bullying that takes place using electronic technology. Electronic technology includes devices and equipment such as cell phones, computers, and tablets as well as communication tools including social media sites, text messages, chat, and websites."

The wider search powers included in the Education Act 2011 give teachers stronger powers to tackle cyber-bullying by providing a specific power to search for and, if necessary, delete inappropriate images (or files) on electronic devices, including mobile phones.

* For more information on how to respond to cyber-bullying and how pupils can keep themselves safe, please refer to the www.childnet-int.org International and www.beatbullying.org links.

Having received training from Anti-Bullying in Cornwall, they provide a daily drop in service so that pupils who have problems can talk them through with their peers confidentially. Strategies for Staff

If you feel that they student is in danger of physical harm or in danger of physically harming others, you must inform the Designated Safeguarding Lead (J. Harvey).

Otherwise select action from one or more of the following strategies:

- Talking to victim and bully separately.
- Supervised meeting of victim and bully to bring about conciliation – no blame approach – the victim should be offered this option, but can choose to accept or refuse.
- Asking pupils to keep a diary of any incidences of bullying that occur, without reacting to them, then meeting after an agreed period to discuss bullying and find ways forward.
- Parental involvement.
- Working with victims to inform them of the strategies available.
- Working with victims to practise the strategies available, e.g. working on their body language and posture, developing self esteem.
- As reparation, perpetrators of bullying may be given tasks to carry out in their free time which will benefit the college community, e.g. designing and putting up posters in rooms with anti-bullying sentiments.
- Allowing students to leave school earlier/later for a very limited period to re-establish confidence.
- Referral to the Support Team.
- Involving buddy or mentor to support victim where appropriate.
- Apply sanctions such as Internal or Fixed Term Exclusion, Community or Leadership work etc.
- Referral to external body – Education Welfare Officer, Educational Psychologist, Anti-Bullying in Cornwall, Careers South West, and/or the Police.

If bullying is reported to an adult, the following action will be taken:

- The incident will be investigated, either by the adult to whom it was reported or by another adult to whom it has been referred, e.g. tutor, Head of House, Support Team Leader. (At this stage agreement must be made for a specific named adult to take responsibility for investigating the matter).
- The matter is then to be dealt with using one or more of the strategies outlined above.
- The incident, and how it has been dealt with, is then to be recorded on Behaviour Manager. Additional information can be recorded on the pupil's electronic file.
- Parents/Guardians will be informed.
- After a period of time, agreed beforehand with the victim, the adult who took responsibility for dealing with the incident will check with the victim to see that the bullying has ceased.

@Talk

Students can report any bullying they have received or witnessed via the Penryn College 'Report Bullying app'. @Talk allows students to e-mail directly trained staff. For further details see the school website or the @Talk Leaflet.

Bullying and the School Behaviour Policy

Our school Behaviour Policy now stipulates that:

'We want all our students to understand and appreciate similarities and differences between themselves and others, and among families, faiths, communities, cultures and traditions. We strive to create an ethos of inclusivity where everyone feels accepted.

We therefore do not accept behaviour that demonstrates a lack of mutual respect or tolerance, whether this is in school, in the community, or on-line.

When such behaviours are reported and investigated they will be dealt with via restorative means in addition to the normal behaviour policy sanctions to work towards educating an alternative viewpoint or response.

As a school, we work closely with our local police, and where we believe criminal behaviour has been undertaken, will recommend the victims of any 'hate crime' to contact the police prior to any school investigation taking place.'
